Some days ago, you suddenly stopped going to school. Your school closed doors for a while, and you now have to stay at home.

Do you know what is going on?

Well, this is because of a nasty virus called Coronavirus, which can make everyone sick.

A virus is a very small thing that cannot be seen by the naked eye, and which multiplies by installing in people's bodies.

It is so small, you can only see it with a microscope.
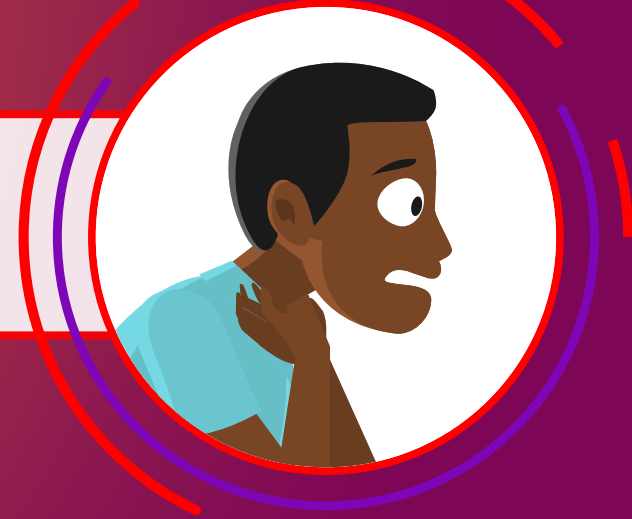

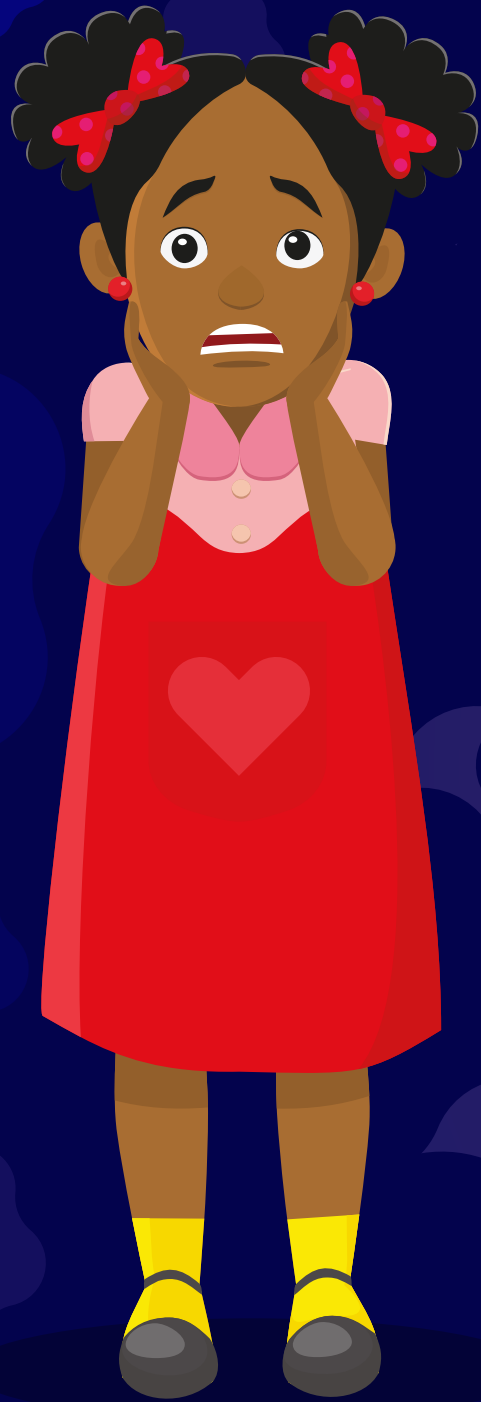

When you are sick

you have fever

your nose runs

you cough
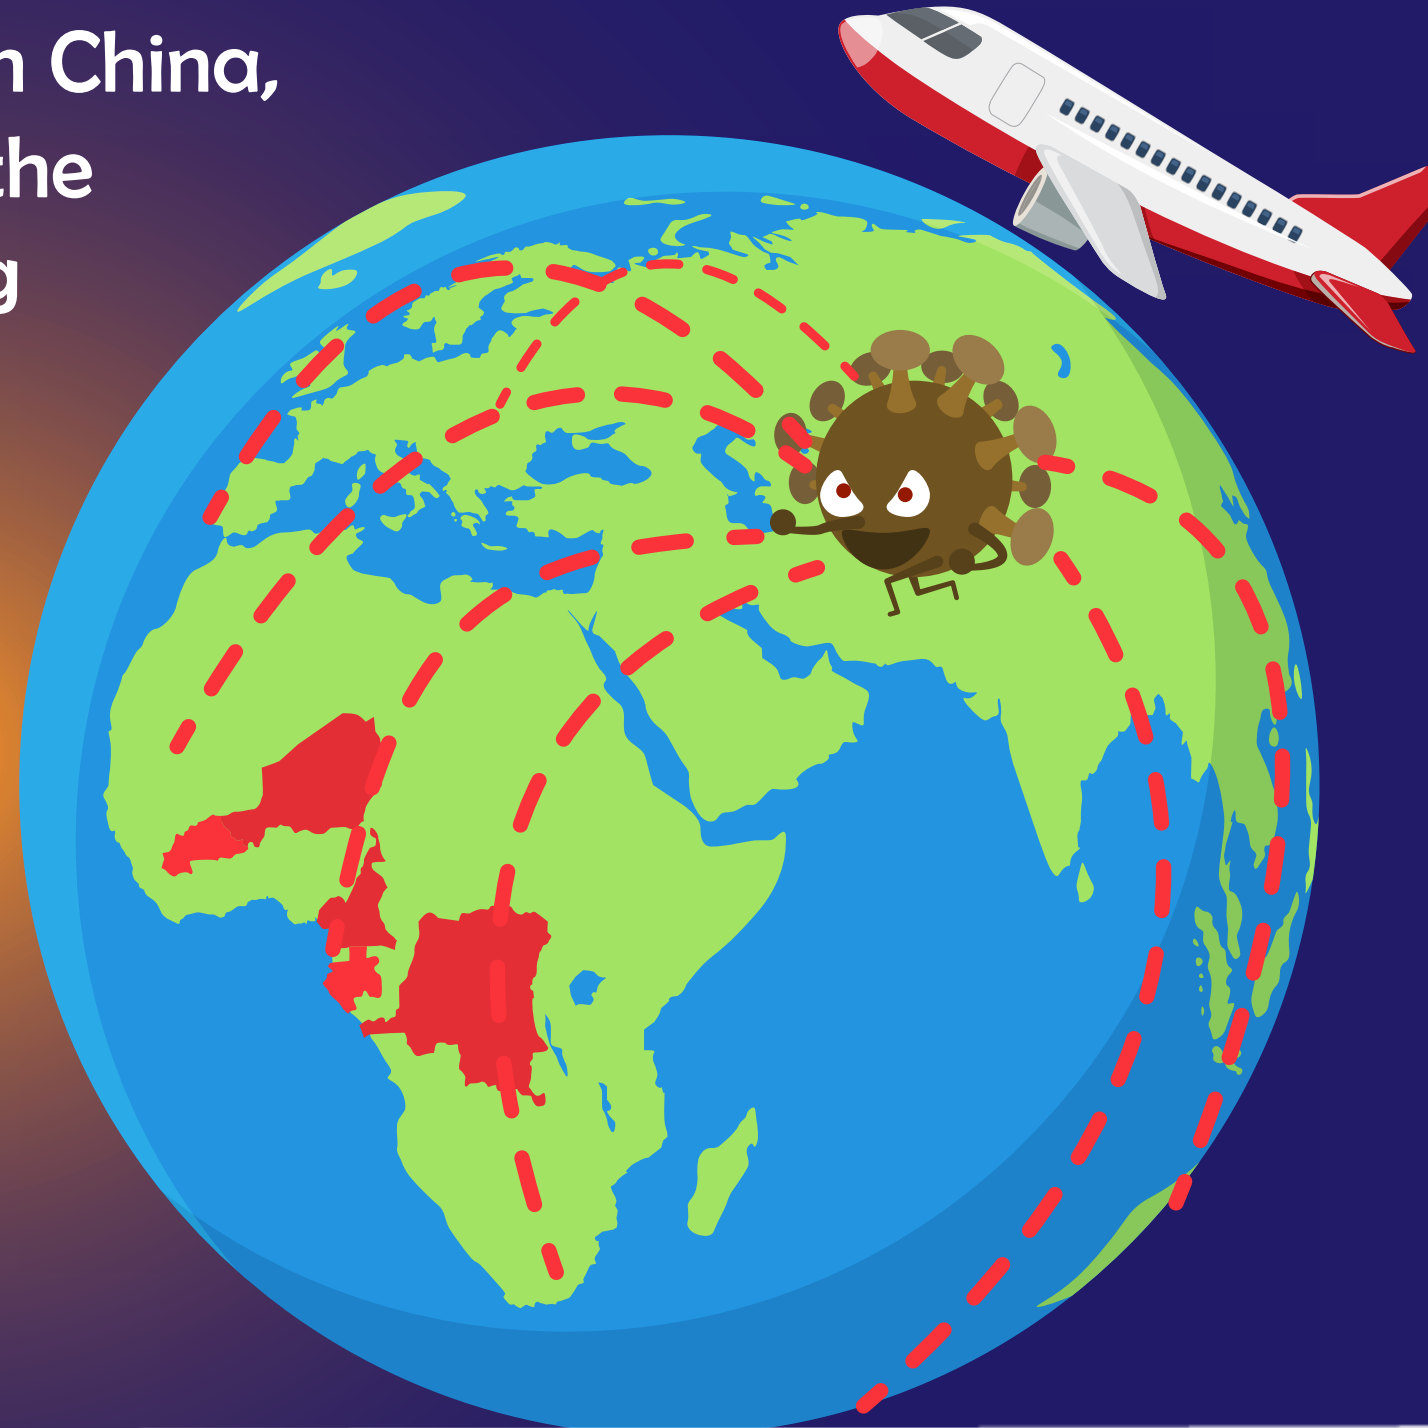

your breathing is more difficult

This can be very serious!

Coro the Nasty Virus started in China, and then spread out all over the world due to people travelling from one place to others.

It has already reached Cameroon, Nigeria, Ivory Coast, Gabon, Chad and many other African countries.

Watch out, Coro is very nasty! It is transmitted by physical contact with a sick person. Sometimes, however, some people are sick, but you cannot see it.

This is why you must avoid :

- handshaking,

- hugs,

- touching your face all the time with unwashed hands.

My brothers and I, when we want to say hello, we perform the Wakanda salutation.
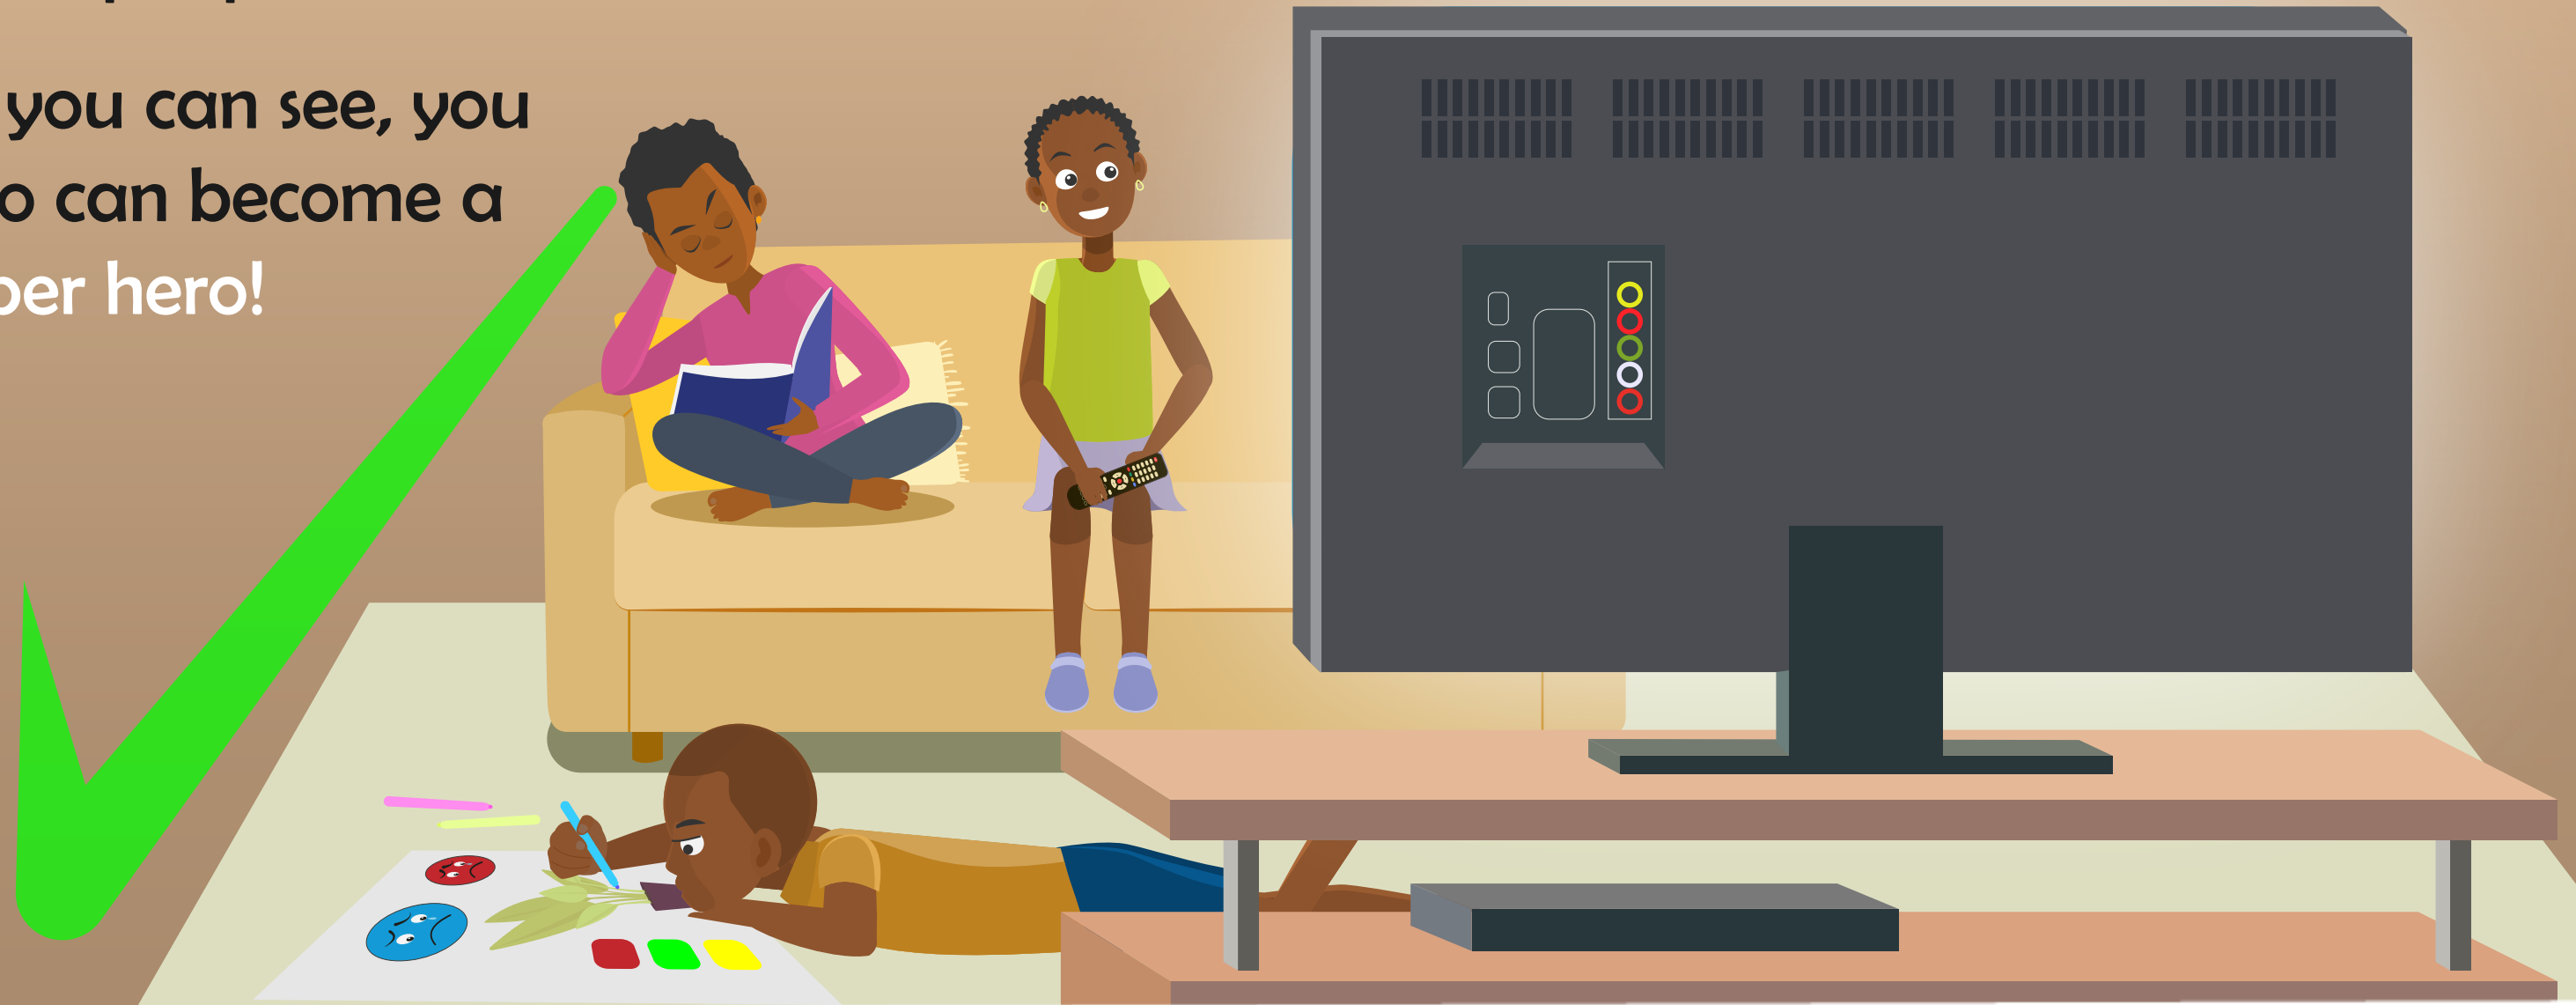

This is even cooler!

You must avoid being where many people are gathering. Also avoid playing games with other kids in the hood. Stay at home.

By staying at home, you help older people fighting Coro the Nasty Virus, and you prevent yourself from getting sick and transmitting the illness to other people.

As you can see, you also can become a super hero!

My friends and I have decided to be super heroes by strictly applying following rules:

Washing hands regularly with soap and water ✓

Sneezing in the elbow ✓

Sneezing in a one-way tissue ✓

Throw the tissue away in a waste bin after using it only once ✓

If you also want to be a super hero like us, follow these instructions that will allow us to chase away Coro the Nasty Virus from the earth and, above all, stay at home.

Hey! Don't forget that school will resume soon and that you must learn your lessons to stay up to date.
